MEASURING TECHNIQUE

SLEEVE LENGTH (total or shirt):

With arm at side, place the end of the tape measure at the nape of the neck and measure to the shoulder and down the arm to the wrist.

NECK:

Measure with collar unbuttoned. Place the tape around the neck at the level the collar would fall if buttoned and take measurement. This measurement is taken for the shirt neck size. It is most important if the customer's neck size seems out of proportion to the rest of his body.

CHEST:

This measurement is taken with the coat off, around the body. Place the tape line well up under the arms, straight across the back, over the blades, and over the chest in the front. Insert a finger between the tape and body to insure proper ease. This measurement usually determines the coat size.

CHEST:

Ask the customer to place his pants on his waist where he is comfortable (usually higher than they were before you asked). Measure from the top of his pant down past the ankle to the top of the heel of the shoe.
